2010-11 Cheyney University Women's Basketball Preview

A Fresh Start for the Lady Wolves

A completely new team greets head coach Marilyn Stephens and her staff this season. Cheyney has no returning players from last year's team that finished the season 10-16 and 7-7 in the Pennsylvania State Athletic Conference. "I'm excited and I know the players are excited," commented Stephens.

It's a great opportunity for everyone. The staff has no preconceived notions and the players are all literally competing for a starting spot and playing time.

A half dozen transfer should loom large in the Lady Wolves future especially early in the season when the freshmen are getting use to college life. Nadirah Brown, Kyra McGriff, Christalee Lynch and Linda Henderson come from the junior college ranks. Meanwhile Ramona Miles (Monroe College) and Shakia Canty (Johnson C. Smith) hail from Division III and II programs respectively.

Freshmen Alexis Peterson, Lachelle Miller, Tamara Russell and India Cross also add to the mix and should provide Stephens with more depth than the Lady Wolves featured a year ago. "We will be more versatile," commented Stephens. "Several players can play multiple positions."

PSAC Overview

Originating in 1951 to administer and promote men's athletics, the Pennsylvania State Athletic Conference has evolved into one of the NCAA's most heralded intercollegiate conferences.

The first major step came in 1977, when based on a growing interest, the league reorganized to provide a structure for its women's programs. Only three years later, lacking a standard competitive division, league voted to reclassify the entire conference to NCAA Division II.

The most recent enhancement came during the 2008-09 academic year when the PSAC expanded for the first time in its rich history, adding full-time members Gannon University and Mercyhurst College, and associate member Long Island University-C.W. Post. The membership now consists of 16 full-time institutions and the one associate.

All of the league's full-time members are located within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, which makes the PSAC the largest one-state conference in the NCAA. The league has also grown to share the distinctions as: The largest conference in Division II, the largest football-playing conference in the NCAA, and, with 23, the conference that sponsors the most championships at the Division II level.

Highly competitive on a regional and national level, PSAC schools annually combine to send nearly one-third of its teams into NCAA postseason play. Ultimately, the membership's success has yielded 43 NCAA team and 238 individual title winners.

While proud of its athletic accomplishments, the league also has evolved into one of Division II's finest from an academic standpoint. Today, nearly one-third of the PSAC's estimated 6,200 participants are honored each year as "Scholar-Athletes" for maintaining a grade-point average of 3.25 or better - a total that has nearly doubled since PSAC Scholar-Athletes were first recognized in the mid-1990s.

Although all 16 current institutions are members of Division II, eight league schools also compete at the Division I level in select sports. PSAC schools enroll over 125,000 students and claim over 709,000 alumni, including 482,000 who reside in Pennsylvania.

The PSAC is governed by the presidents of the 16 member institutions. It employs a commissioner, two assistant commissioners and a director of media relations at its headquarters in Lock Haven, Pa.
